So a fine was taken if any son of a nativus was placed out to learn a free handicraft, one the practice of which hereafter in a town or borough for a year and a day, would render him a freeman, if not claimed within that interval by his lord. If the nativus left one surviving relative (widow or son) the lord took half of all the deceased s chattels; if he left wife and son, the lord took a third. If the nativus had neither wife nor child, the lord took all. It does not provide for the case of a large family, or for one or more daughters, but only regards the heir and the dower of the widow. if he shall have a son and a wife, the lord shall have the third part of his goods. If he shall have no son, but only a wife, or a son and no wife, the lord shall have half his goods. If he shall have neither son nor daughter, nor wife, the lord shall have all his goods. And after his death, his posthumous son, or posthumous daughter if he have no son, shall pay fine to or, shall fine with the lord for the land to be held at the will of the lord, and he may go with his chattels or averiabit may drive cattle as far as Chestrefelt...
