Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Presidential Addresses and State Papers, Vol. 7: November 15, 1907, to November 26, 1908 During the same forty years they have been making for themselves homes until now there are five hundred thousand homes owned and occupied by the colored citizens of our country. When a man and woman grow to acquire a certain amount of property, above all when they grow to own and occupy their own home, it is proof positive that they have made long strides forward along the path of good citizenship. The material basis is not everything, but it is an indispensable prerequisite to moving upward in the life of decent citizenship; and the colored man, when he acquires property, acquires a home, has taken that indispensable first step, and a long, long step. Upon that material basis must be built the structure of the higher life; and this institution has been devoted throughout its career to turning out men and women who should be teachers and helpers of their own people toward that higher life. You have close upon three thousand graduates; I think twenty-seven hundred is the exact number. Last year you had in all one thousand students, representing thirty-two of our own States and Territories, and about ninety students from other countries.
